PEACE DEMONSTRATION.

There was something in the peace demonstration of yesterday which defies expression and deters definition. The wealth, influence and respectability of our community—young and old—the weak and the vigorous—the rich and the poor—in a word, all above the rank of a beggarman or a changador, were brigaded in a species of forlorn-hope procession—praying, petitioning, demanding peace! To comprehend the movement, to logically associate it with history, experience, or with facts—then the country has been at war for the last year, and the citizens of Buenos Ayres now demand peace. Old Regulus himself could not have marched with firmer tread than Dn. Emilio Fernandez, the Bolsa President; and, in fact, we only wanted the matrons of Buenos Ayres in the procession to complete a scene without precedent in any history, and which our deep, galling, burning errors can alone explain.

The intense humanity of the spectacle appealed to the heart, whilst the sight of a strong, vigorous, intelligent people wending their way through the streets, with shut-up shops, banks and warehouses, spoke a magnanimity that in most countries would pass by another name. It is difficult to offer any remark on a movement that enlisted such widespread approbation; but to the intellectual Argentine or foreigner yesterday's procession must indeed be a profound lesson, teaching truths imperishable!—none greater than that the best principles of Republicanism are up-turned in the Plate, and that the sovereignty of the nation rests anywhere or everywhere but in the people.

It is no trifling political crisis that produces such a demonstration as yesterday's, when the whole militia of commerce is called out, not to assert the ascendancy of wealth, but to protest against a line of political conduct which if continued must result in civil war. The headlong course of our politicians has shaken the very foundations of public prosperity. The long season of discord through which we have passed has poisoned the public mind, and it almost proclaimed to the world that Argentines are no longer brothers; and the great drama of yesterday was played more to restore reason to our rulers than to establish principles, or even assert rights.

Liberty demands some greater safeguards in this country than it enjoys. The Press of Buenos Ayres, it must be admitted, instead of being the protector of our institutions and our rights, is of all others the element which has most powerfully contributed to our present troubles; and the peace procession of yesterday, if instead of proceeding to Government Houses and Congress, had addressed itself to the newspaper offices, might have struck at what, we regret to admit, is the most terrible arm of discord in this Republic Public opinion in this land is misdirected, depraved and misled, when the appetite for news is only satisfied by continued political exaggeration and falsehood, and when the reputation of every one depends on calumnies diffused through every circle of society. Verily the art of printing, due to the excesses of our political writers, becomes as it were the last logic of revolution: and the public mind gets so trained to error through the pernicious facilities of a cheap and slanderous press, that the excesses of our politicians, their errors, and their crimes, are the hereditary consequences of calumnious and seditious newspapers.

The issue before the country is too grave to be overlooked and too tremendous to be despised. If Argentines do not give to it the importance which it merits, foreigners at least will. It is not for nothing that we witnessed such a scene in this city as yesterday's, nor will the effort prove vain, if it awaken in the minds of the people of Buenos Ayres a sense of shame that the fortunes of the Plate should be so jeopardized.

This peace procession, after all, proves the ascendancy in the public mind of the best and noblest principles of our nature. Buenos Ayres is the head and front of this Republic: her commerce has set to the rest of the nation a worthy and proper example, and we feel as we write these lines that, spite of everything, no political intrigue could purchase a conquest or a victory which the people of Buenos Ayres would accept at the expense of their national faith and their pledged provincial honor.

THE PROCESSION.

The peace procession which took place in this city yesterday is unparalleled in its history: nothing of the kind was ever before witnessed in our streets, and it wanted neither the discharges of artillery or the tolling of bells to increase its solemnity. To comprehend it, to weigh its import and its significance, it should be caught by the eye, as all description must necessarily fall short of the reality. Whether we regard the great respectability of the men who walked in serried ranks, their excessive numbers, the sombre attire of the streets with every shop in town closed, or the crowd-capped azoteas, windows, balconies, &c., we must accept the demonstration as the greatest, the most emphatic and the most imposing ever witnessed in the land.

Whoever disturbs the peace of this country after the affair of yesterday will gather from the street scene the terrific consequence of his crime; and it is only in the presence of such assemblages that one can grasp the true daugers that beset the country, and the dire necessity that called for such a 'pronunciamiento.'

At a little after two o'clock the Bolsa Committee assembled up stairs, and soon Mr. Sassenberg drove up in a brougham with Dr. Rawson, whose arrival met with hearty cheers from the crowd both inside and outside the Bolsa. Mr. Sarmiento next entered and was also much cheered: we never saw him looking younger or better. Next came Gen. Mitre, whose advent caused uproarious applause. The Bolsa is seven-eighths Mitrista. Then came Alberdi, the greatest commentator in this country. Dn. Felix Frias, as he went up stairs, was also cheered; in fact, cheer followed cheer, and the crowd above was getting greater than what the floor could bear.

The Rural Society, all estancieros to a man, next came, and the Bolsa now presented such a rare appearance, that a Belgian gentleman remarked "No one yet knew to what new uses the building would be applied." All the Committee men wore blue rosettes, whilst their associates wore white peace cockades. To enumerate all who crowded in the hall, the atrio, the aisles and the Committee rooms would be to count out the wealth, commerce and representation of our whole community. We never before witnessed such a sight, and it would be difficult indeed to repeat it.

At a little before 3 o'clock Don Emilio Fernandez, the Coriolanus of the hour, descended the stairs, with Dr. Rawson, General Mitre, Mr Drysdale, Dr. Gorostiaga, Sr. Frias, Messrs. Unzue, Tornquist, Bouwer, Forrester, Mallmann, Dr. Lopez, President of Provincial Bank; Mr. Todd, manager of River Plate Bank; Mr. Carabassa, manager of his own bank; Mr. Pollinini, manager of Italian Bank; Messrs. Paats, Meyn, Duggan, H T Grigg, Correa Morales, Leslie, Kruls, W Jacobs, F Jacobs, W Sampson, N Lowe, F Cibils, and 'en fin' almost the whole list of brokers on the Bolsa. The procession formed in lines of about 15 deep, and swelled in proportions every yard it advanced; arriving at the Plaza Victoria it was joined by numerous members of the Industrial and other clubs; every house top was black with people, and even on the summit of the new steeple of the Cabildo there were spectators—the Peak of Tenerife in Buenos Ayres. The progress of the procession became every moment slower all the vast network of city tramways was stopped, and, as a natural consequence, the whole transit of the city impeded. Even before the members of the Syndicate reached the Old Recoba, the head of the procession, with Don Emilio Fernandez, had entered the National Government House.

To advance much farther seemed out of the question, as the environs of the Government House were black with people, and there was a pause. Suddenly cheer followed cheer, and it was announced the President had come on the balcony.

Mr. Emilio Fernandes, on delivering the petition to the President, made a short speech.

Mr. Sundblad, on behalf of the Sociedad Rural, also addressed H.E.

Dr. Rawson then came forward and made one of his most eloquent speeches, reminding the President that San Martin was twice expatriated by civil war, and in a few days we shall be welcoming the bones of this National hero—and in what a terrible state the country is!! He reminded H.E. that he was still a young man, and would live to bless the day if he now made a firm decision to save the country. Thousands are assembled outside to hear whether the sun goes down on civil war or will rise with the aurora of Peace. President Avellaneda stood between Ministers Pellegrini and Goyena, and all were visibly affected, and Mr Sarmiento and others wept. The President replied, assuring every one that peace would be maintained; and accepted Dr. Rawson's invitation to step outside and see the multitude. He asked them did they desire peace, and 20,000 voices shouted the affirmative. He then replied that peace could be relied on, and not the slightest prospect existed of civil war.

After a delay of fully half an hour the procession, headed by Don Emilio Fernandez and Mr. Sassenberg, emerged from the Government House, and proceeded to the House of Congress, where the members were in Session, Cromwell himself, if he came to life, would have halted before such an imposing scene. As a matter of course only a few could enter, but the whole House rose in recognition of the importance of the embassy, and after duly presenting the petition on the floor of the House the procession left, and headed for the old Provincial Government House in Calle Moreno, where, according to the general run of the news in the street, there was no one in. At least the Governor, they said, had not as yet returned from the Tigre, as General Roca's steamer did not enter until past 2 o'clock, but whether in Calle Moreno or in the Tigre, the Governor was at his post, and aiding in every possible manner the movement which had brought the whole commerce of B. Aires into the streets. The Provincial Ministers were at their post, and played their parts, and the procession then backed for the Bolsa, and thus closed the memorable drama.

All countries at one time or other have their trying moments, and we may accept the present as perhaps the most critical and most difficult in our history; but, that the commerce of Buenos Ayres has acted well its part in the emergency none can dispute; spite of all our troubles, excesses and annoyances, there is a good spring in the people, and when we are put to it we are able to carry out as great a movement here as our sires in Europe. We stood at Charing cross when the Peace with Honor demonstration shook the world's capital: the scene here and there was the same, although we must admit the actors were far different, and the great respectability of our demonstration may prove after all that what the rabble does in London the merchants and bankers effect in Buenos Ayres.

Before this meeting came off, and the men of Buenos Ayres trod with dauntless step our streets, there were thousands who ridiculed the movement, but before the sun went down on the scene they learned to change their views, and whether Roquista or Tejedorista, all confess that the Commerce of Buenos Ayres has acted well its part, and set to the Republic a worthy and salutary example.

TRIP TO THE CAMP.
No. 6

Nothing is more remarkable about the camps of Buenos Ayres than the individual history of the estancias. Every property has a record of its own; and, although through the districts which I passed during my week's trip, theroad lay chiefly through Irish properties, it would be a mistake to suppose that in other parts of the camp there are not equally splendid properties belonging to other nationalities. Emerging from the chacras of Chivilcoy, and about 7 leagues from that town, we enter the wire-fenced estancia of a Basque who some few years ago was a peon of a city milkman. That a poor, laboring man can rise from so humble a post as a lechero's peon and by steady and persevering industry and enterprise become before he is 50 years of age, the owner of a large and valuable stocked estancia, representing to-day a capital of at least ten millions currency, shows what can still be done in the camp of Buenos Ayres. Sr Stragamon, this wealthy Basque, is the first of his nationality in the camp; his estancia stretches for leagues on both sides of the road, and every puesto on his land is a small chacra or farm, where the puesteros raise crops and vegetables, not only for their own support, but for sale in the adjoining town. We met the proprietor, a man apparently just crossed the centre arch of life; his right arm was bound up in a sling, Dr. Peacan, from Buenos Ayres, having just amputated the hand which was fearfully shattered by his gun going off accidentally. The accident cost Sr Stragamon not only his hand, but in expenses, &c, 300,000 m/c. He was in the corral looking at his sheep when we saw him, and hundreds of men of the same type you meet on the Flores road bringing milk into town, or at the brick kilns making bricks. His estancia is one of the finest in the district, and chiefly remarkable for the extraordinary economy with which it is worked. The Government of Buenos Ayres ought to publish the life of this millionaire Basque, with a description of his estancia, and scatter same broadcast through the Pyrenees. This is the first Basque milkman in the camp in a large way that we met with, but we hear that in the South camps the Basques are now making tremendous headway; and our informant, a South Market wool broker, says that they already have established a reputation for the excellent condition of their wool.

Passing from this milkman's estancia, we enter the wire-fenced estancia of Mrs Casey, which is managed by her son James, one of the smartest and most intelligent camp men we have met with. He leaves with his wife in the Bessel for a trip to Europe, and we have no doubt his sojourn in Europe will give him new and valuable experiences. This fine estancia some ten years ago belonged to the owner of the well known cafe on the beach, called the Cafe de l'Amistad. The land really cost Mrs Casey nothing, since she only paid 800,000 m/c for the whole place, 1½ square league, and some 20,000 sheep, besides some cattle, mares, puestos, corrales, alfalfares &c. The sheep alone represented the purchase money. The place in the hands of the Cafe de l'Amistad man never gave any return, and was the source of constant expense; but when Mrs Casey bought it she sent her son, Mr Edward Casey—who is now banker, barraquero, and Bank Director—to manage it; and since then it has paid splendidly. The lands hereabout were very dry, yet there seemed to be abundance of pasturage for sheep, but the cattle have to be driven to the outside lands.

It was long after sundown when we arrived at the gates of San Marcos, the magnificent property of Messrs Duggan Hermanos, We passed on the road many puestos that a few years ago were occupied by countrymen who have now bought or rented lands farther out: Mr Harvey, Mr Morrogh, and many others whose names we forget.

We drove through the lands of Sr Lynch, and we believe through the estancia of Dr. Quirno, but the shades of evening were closing round so fast that we were well pleased to find ourself at last at the Duggan alambrado, and, after a sharp drive over a corner of the land, we arrived at the estancia house, one of the finest, most commodious, well furnished that we saw in the camp. We must reserve for another chapter a full description of this fine estate. I may be excused for remarking, however, that when I left town I had no idea the estancieros were as wealthy as they are, or that their estancias were of such dimensions and so splendidly stocked.

The Tycho Brahe's Mails

FIVE DAYS LATER.

London, April 10th.

The results of some important county contests were declared yesterday, the Liberals winning twelve seats. First in importance was the poll in the North-Eastern Division of Lancashire, which was declared at a late hour last night. The Marquis of Hartington and Mr Grafton are returned by majorities of 1,451 and 1,282 respectively over the number recorded for the highest of the two Conservative candidates. The other Liberal gains announced during the day included the Isle of Wight, Roxburgshire, Tyrone, North Durham, East Cornwall, West Gloucester, Monaghan (two), Cardiganshire, and South Lanarkshire. The result of the poll in Berkshire and the Southern Division of the West Riding will be made known to-day. Thus far the net Liberal gain is 99 seats.

The Marquis of Hartington, on his way from Manchester to Blackburn yesterday, whilst passing through Bolton, addressed the crowd assembled on the railway platform. Speaking from the carriage window, he thanked the people of Bolton for being the first in Lanacashire to send two Liberals to Parliament. He rejoiced that their example had been followed by the rest of the country. He trusted that a powerful Government would be formed to carry out the wishes of the Liberal party.

Mr Gladstone has addressed a letter to the electors of Leeds, thanking them for having associated him with 'one of the most conspicuous and imposing victories ever won for the Liberal cause,' and congratulating them on having set such an example as could not fail to operate elsewhere. He then states that he elects to serve in Parliament for the county of Mid-Lothian, and remarks, 'With you, gentlemen, the only difficulty was to avoid wasting any part of your splendid majority; in Mid-Lothian the main value, if not the attraction, of the contest lay in the strength, resources, and confidence of the opposing party, through which a victory gained at that point acquired a significance beyond all ordinary measures.'

Mr Herbert Gladstone has issued an address thanking the 8,876 electors who voted for him at the late election in Middlesex, and also the non-electors who worked for the Liberal cause. He states that, through shortness of time, incomplete organization, and long neglect of the register, the Liberal party in Middlesex were placed at a great disadvantage, but he trusts that the Liberal organization will be re-arranged and reformed, and that at the next election the triumphant return of two Liberal candidates will be ensured.

The two Liberal members returned for North Durham addressed a large meeting last evening in front of the Sunderland Liberal Club. Colonel Joicey, who headed the poll, said they felt with the people of Russia, but had no feeling for the Russian Government. The Tory candidate and late member, Sir George Elliot, would never show his face again in North Durham. Mr. Palmer, the second Liberal member, said the Liberal Government would have heavy responsibilities to bring down expenditure, increase the revenue, and reduce taxation. He hoped Mr. Gladstone would be Premier.

In an address issued to the electors of Halifax, congratulating them on the great victory achieved in the borough, and the example which they have set to other constituencies, Mr. Stansfeld, M.P., says:—"There is victory all along the line; there is the immediate prospect of the Liberal party returning to power, and resuming its work of reform, and of its doing so under conditions which will make it united, strong and free."

Yesterday Colonel Stanley addressed a large meeting of electors at Carnforth in the Conservative interest, combating the charges against the Government of being warlike and extravagant. The action of Ministers had been the means of maintaining peace in Europe. As regarded the charge of extravagance, many sums voted in the estimates were loans for sanitary and local purposes, and as such repayable. He thought the decline in trade was due to the great depression which preceded it in America. Quoting the Board of Trade returns, he showed that trade is now reviving generally.

Lord Hampton, who as Sir John Pakington held Cabinet office in former Conservative Administrations, and who soon after his elevation to the Peerage was appointed First Civil Service Commissioner, died yesterday at the age of 81.

Our Correspondent at Rangoon telegraphs that no certain news has been received there of the reported death of King Theebau. Human sacrifices are said to have been offered up at Mandalay for the preservation of his life.

Our St. Petersburg Correspondent telegraphs that two peasants in the Government of Jaroslaw have been sentenced to transportation for taking an active part in propagating the faith of the Old Believers; and another peasant to a year's imprisonment for constructing a place of worship for the sect. The judgment of the Court furthermore ordered that the building should be destroyed. We also learn from St. Petersburg that a first warning has been given to the Molva newspaper by the Minister of the Interior.

Our Correspondent at Salonica sends us an account in a letter we publish this morning of the captivity of Colonel Synge. During the whole time, he was kept by the brigands in a cave guarded by five men. He had to put up with indifferent fare, but met with no ill-treatment. Once, however, the brigands threatened to roast him alive. This was because another band proposed to the dragoman of the British Consulate to capture Nico, the brigand who carried off the Colonel, and then effect an exchange of prisoners. This came to the knowledge of the men guarding Colonel Synge, and they told him that had the proposition been acted upon they would have flayed him, covered him with petroleum and placed him over a fire.

In the German Parliament yesterday the second reading of the Army Bill was carried by a large majority.

A collision has occurred near Galatz between a British and an Austrian steamer. The former sank, and five of the crew and eleven passengers are reported to have been drowned.

Vanderbilt won the Gold Cup at the Alexandra Park Races yesterday, and amongst the other results of the running were the following:—Flying Two-year-Old Plate, Mary Ambree; Middlesex Handicap, Whisht; Auction Plate, Actoris; Tollington Plate, Ellen Douglas. At Warwick the events were:—Selling Hurdle Race, Samaria; Selling Welter Plate, Ultimatum; Hunters' Selling Flat Race, Broomieknowe; Guy Welter Handicap Plate, Monk; Open Hunters' Steeplechase, Robert Emmet.

In the Queen's Bench Division yesterday, the Lord Chief Justice drew attention to the fact that the Court was unable to proceed with the new trial paper in consequence of the absence of judges on circuit. The additional circuit could not be looked upon as an unmitigated good, but had been productive of considerable mischief.

In the City yesterday money was in good demand owing to the subscriptions to the Queensland loan. The stock markets were firm in tone with a rising tendency. Egyptian were especially strong, but Mexican fell 1½ per cent. The sum of £76,000 in gold was sent into the Bank of England.

MONTEVIDEO.

Dear Standard,

The pacific inhabitants here have had a shock at the news that Dr Tezanos has taken charge of the Nacion. The incendiary articles of 1875 were too eloquent and disastrous to be forgotten, and our Press will vie with yours as to which of both will preach the most sedition. The abuse of the liberty of the Press is the ruin of South America.

The Tiros, composed of all the 'jovenes distinguidos,' are following the Buenos Ayres fashion. Picnics and theatrical benefits are being preconcerted; sooner or later suppers, with stimulating soups and wines, will be included in the programme. It is a pity there is no Governor of a Province to attend the 'carne-con-cueros' and pronounce Lacedaemonian-like, short, fiery speeches. These Tiros have an idea that they represent Montevideo, and they have therefore the right to fight the miserable departments, since the capital represents the wealth, commerce and half the population of the Banda Oriental.

The high-handed measures of the Argentine Government in the Plato and Bessel affair have astonished all. There was a supposition prevalent that something very serious must underlie the matter to call forth such energetic action. People here have been rather taken in with the seizure of the schooner by the Vigilante in our waters, but not much is said about the affair. The commander of the Vigilante is an Oriental, and has an astonishing knowledge of the waters, ships, charters and international laws about the mouth of the Plate.

The papers are brimfull of news from Buenos Ayres, where you are very lively. The latest news is that a Peace Committee is to petition both Governments, National and Provincial, to preserve peace. I always thought that the National Government was the body, not to preserve, but to enforce order. If 40,000 persons of the commercial body were to petition President Avellaneda to enforce peace, H.E. would do it very quickly. A Provincial Government has nothing to do with the maintenance of peace; he is the natural agent of the Executive, to obey its decrees in his own province. The way in which you act appears to be a prayer to two belligerent and independent Powers to make peace.

I have read Governor Tejedor's Message with great amusement. The document looks like an ultimatum sent by Lord Beaconsfield to Cetewayo, full of useful information as to the conduct he is to observe, and the results of disobedience. Alas! whither is the River Plate and South America drifting to? Revolution in the East and war in the West. Far better for Argentines to declare war against Chile or any other republic and send their myrmidons to die on battle-fields or in the snows of the Andes. There is no opprobrium in the fate—the death is a soldier's. Cepeda and Pavon were butcheries; Junin and Ituzaingo were glories. Tejedor swears he will die game.

Latorre's spectre rises now and then in the dark political horizon. Now and then a laconic telegram sends agues into the bones of his opponents, who like mice dance when the cat is in oblivion. Some say the ex-dictator is gambling the State's moneys at one-horse races; others state that he is in Rio Grande, actively gathering men to invade the country. The latter supposition is ridiculous, as he has supporters enough here to drive all croakers into the Plata.

The river steamers are doing a good business. All about town you meet with Argentines, who, in view of disturbances, have left the Calle Florida to 'pasear' on the Union road. On the other hand, as fast as the 'emigrados' are returning here, Orientales are emigrating to your shores. A pretty state of affairs, quite too delicious for the agents.

The Sud America left this port crowded with Ausonians, who go back to Genoa, with a long tale as to security of life and property in the River Plate, for the next twelve months. After all, in civil war it is the industrious foreigner who loses most; he does not bear arms, but he loses what he has earned with the sweat of his brow.

Both imports and exports are dull for the present. The Customs' returns for the month of April are satisfactory and above the average.

Yours,

Voltaire.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Hurrah! 'Hoch!' 'Vive!' 'Viva!' It's all arranged! Such was the mutinal greeting yesterday morning in the divers tongues spoken in this cosmopolitan city. No need to ask 'what's arranged?'—the Presidential muddle, of course: Governor Tejedor was at the opera on Sunday night, with the French Minister, Count Amelot. Towards the close of the performance the great news oozed out—General Roca was to be at the Tigre on Monday (yesterday) morning, and the Governor would go to meet him and formally arrange that both should retire from the Presidential contest and let the Electoral College choose whom they like. Governor Tejedor was tremendously cheered yesterday at 9 o'clock by a dense crowd of all classes as he stepped into a carriage at the Central Station and was whirled off to the Tigre, alone, as he refused to let even a single person accompany him. On arriving at his quinta he ordered a splendid breakfast to be prepared for two, but the Pilcomayo gunboat, in which the General came down from Rosario, was delayed and did not reach the Tigre till 2 o'clock

The excitement in town all day was something tremendous: Nearly all the shops and offices were closed, and, although the great news, that all was settled, might have rendered the Monster Peace Demonstration unnecessary, it only swelled the number, and such an imposing manifestation of public opinion was never before seen in this country. Gold fell on the Bolsa in a fashion that Cardinal Wolsely, Cæsar, or Lucifer himself could not beat: everybody, high and low, had a peaceable glow on his face, and even the very newsboys went half mad and, in the intervals between the bulletins, carried on joyous battles with orange-peels in the middle of the street. Buenos Ayres never saw such a day before, nor will it ever again, we suspect. Up to our Press hour there was nothing from the Tigre.

The capture of Sanchez, Mr. O'Campo's clerk, who stole a million from his firm a month ago, reflects great credit on the Buenos Ayres police, especially on Commissary, or Inspector, Biedma. A shabby-looking woman presented a recipe at an apothecary's shop in Plaza Once; the Galen remarked that it was beautifully written, in a fine flowing hand; some barraqueros were in the shop purchasing Cockle's Pills, and one of them at once cried out, "By thunder, that's Sanchez's writing, I know it well." The recipe was soon in Commissary Biedma's hands; Mr. O'Campo was called and swore to the writing; the woman was watched for some time, and in several almacenes and tiendas she made purchases, exchanging bank notes ot high value. Finally, on Saturday morning, Commissary Biedma called on Sanchez, at No. 1300 and odd Calle Cangallo. In a moment he saw the game was up and seized his revolver, but Mr. Biedma had him covered beautifully, just above the right eye, with a Colt's revolver, so he surrendered at once. Sanchez had cut off his whiskers and imperial, and wore a huge false beard; he said he intended to leave for Europe in September, when the affair would have blown over. $800,000 of the money were found in an old Bagley's biscuit-box in his room, and handed over to Mr. O'Campo.

The latest phase of the Latorre muddle in the sister city is that the wife of the ex-President, a lady who is universally respected in Montevideo, was grossly insulted by a beard less dandy, when leaving the Matriz church on Sunday last. Was there no man near to kick the young whelp? This is the lowest level we have seen political passion reach as yet. The Tiro Nacional is now definitely formed at Montevideo (God help Montevideo!) There is a truly tremendous bobbery going on there about the Vigilante capturing the lighter with arms, in the very harbour, and our colleagues down there refuse to be comforted with the idea that they have, for the moment, the honour of sailing in the same boat as 'la poderosa Albion.'

We are requested to call the attention of the urbane manager of the Northern Railway to the great inconvenience caused to ladies and children travelling by that line on Sundays, by allowing the Tiros Nacionales to swarm into the carriages, rifle in hand, when returning from drill at Palermo. On Sunday last this abuse was very patent, and many ladies and children were much frightened, to say nothing of their having to listen to barrack slang which, we feel sure, the gallant and aristocratic Tiros would never dream of using unless when under the stimulus of martial excitement. In any case it would be well if special carriages could be provided for the Tiros, or at least for their rifles, as very few ladies can divest themselves of the idea that there is always danger about firearms, and that, loaded or unloaded, they are always liable to go off and kill somebody.

Buenos Ayres ladies are so extremely fond of pungent scents that we venture to think they will find the following extract from a London paper of some interest to them:—

"Dr. Piero Fabris, the Italian Professor, is said to have noticed the remarkable effect which certain perfumes have on the human organisation, and to have determined to apply this fact to the purposes of education. Seventy-eight girls were subjected to different perfumes with various results. Musk produced amiability, langour, and a tendency to wear fine clothes—the latter, however, possibly innate. The specimens submitted to a rose test did not die of it 'in aromatic pain,' as they should have done, but became prudish and unamiable—an unexpected result from the queen of flowers. Geranium produced decision of character; violet, gentleness and religious fervour; patchouli, it need hardly be said, complete moral depravation. Why Dr. Fabris should make the last experiment, the results of which must have been evident to every person of observation and a cultivated nose, does not seem clear. The story derives remarkable corroboration from a familiar nursery rhyme, which declares that little girls are made of 'sugar and spice.' Spice, it is needless to say was used by our ancestors as a general term for perfumes, and the application of the latter to the completion and development of feminine nature has a perfect grace of congruity."

We perceive that some of our colleagues are already bringing their military lore to bear in a discussion about how a siege and defence of Buenos Ayres would be carried on, if a rumpus should break out. This is an unpleasant and dangerous topic, and had better be dropped.

An unfortunate Italian, named Sane, who must decidedly have been insane, suffocated himself with charcoal on Thursday night. It appears that his wife ran away from him some time ago: he left a letter, or rather a word, for her, namely her own name 'Christine,' written on an envelope.

The Photographic News is responsible for the following:—"Everybody knows how jealously the gates of the Royal Observatory are guarded, and what difficulties even scientific men have to gain admission, but Mr. Glaisher, the worthy President of the Photographic Society, and who was until lately Superintendent of the Meteorological Department, tells a story that goes far to prove that nothing is impossible to a resolute man. A vast star-shower had been anticipated, and its coming heralded in every newspaper. The staff at Greenwich, with the Astronomer Royal at their head, remained the whole night through making observations and counting the bright meteors as they fell. The weary night passed and the small hours of the morning came, only to find the jaded observers still pursuing their duty. 'That makes 10,704,' said our friend, Mr. Glaisher. 'Beg pardon, how many?' exclaimed a voice behind him, '10,704,' repeated the President of the Photographic Society; and then, not recognising the voice, he turned and saw a stranger. 'Who are you, and where do you come from?' At first the only possible conjecture was that the stranger had fallen from the clouds with the star-shower, but it was not so, for, closing a little note-book, he simply replied, 'I am the special correspondent of the New York Herald. Thank you, very much, good morning.' How that special managed to get through the park gates and elude the vigilance of the keepers, how he got inside the walls of the Observatory, how he pressed into the sanctum of the Astronomer Royal, is a mystery to this day; but within a few hours of his interview with Mr. Glaisher, the readers of the New York Herald received a correct account of the marvellous star-shower, together with many interesting details of the Observatory itself."

The entertainment at the Literary Society to-morrow night will be a treat of the first water, and we strongly advise our lady friends to insist on going, no matter how tired or indisposed husbands, fathers brothers, or the whole male tribe of relatives may pretend to be, as an excuse for getting off escort duty. There is a programme of music and reading worth going any distance to hear, and its successful execution is vouched for by the names of four of the most distinguished members of the Quartette Society, and a good deal of the cream of the Literary Society itself. Eight o'clock, uncommonly sharp, is the hour.

We had an application yesterday from a subscriber—No, he says he is an utter stranger; well we infer he is at least a constant reader—at Carcarañá, for full particulars about the famous Teosinte plant. If our friend Mr. Calman should be passing 'Standard Court' to-day, perhaps he would kindly favour us with a call.

Father Martin preached a most eloquent sermon on Sunday last in the Merced Church to a crowded congregation. There was a temporary panic during the service, caused by a man presumed to have been intoxicated, trying to force his way into that portion of the church allotted to females, and drawing a knife on the beadle who endeavoured to stop him. He was taken into custody at once.

The excitement on the Bolsa this morning baffles all description. Aside from the disturbing influence of the peace meeting, convoked for to-day, the news that General Roca had arrived at the Tigre, and that Governor Tejedor had gone down to meet him, provoked a stiff stand-from-under feeling, and gold, the barometer of feeling and of hope, opened with a shock and with a fall of 25 cents. So great was the excitement on the Bolsa that although there was a very strong disposition to operate or speculate, it was difficult to make business transactions with the parties looked for. Since the Bolsa was first opened in this city it has never witnessed such a scene as to-day, and we point to the matter to show the tremendous growth of interests and the fearful consequences that must ensue, if those interests are jeopardised. The conduct of General Roca in retiring from the post of Candidate, with a sweeping majority in his favor, is calculated to make him the most popular man in this country, and his bitterest opponents spoke in the highest terms of him in the hall. Mr Beccar stood at the petition table all the morning, getting signatures, and a Bolsa official stood in the side aisle handing merchants and brokers white ribbons, to pin to the coat and make as it were a white peace cockade, which gave to our very well dressed members a new and pleasant appearance. The street in front of the Bolsa was so thronged, even at noon, that it was difficult to pass through, and to meet the voice of the market, the appeal of the country and the exigencies of the situation the gold ring was shut at 1 o'clock, being half an hour earlier than the legal hour. To the classical student the appearance of the town reminded one of the scene in Rome when the whole city was closed to make a peace deputation to Coriolanus. In Carthage also when Regulus was sent back to Rome, every shop in the city was closed, and Mark Antony and Octavia, in their memorable interview, only played the same part that Tejedor and Roca repeated in the Tigre this morning.

Gold opened at 30.70 and closed at 30.60. Only 28,500 cash sold. For the end of the month 642,000 sold at 30.65, and for June and July at 30.60. Gold for the end of the year was offered, but no buyers came forward.

Treasury Bils advanced with a bound, and closed at 78½. The long visages of some very heavy holders on Saturday were no longer seen. The fright which many holders of stocks got was indeed great, but the men who trusted to the last and never doubted have suffered nothing, whilst these who sold at 75 tried to replace to-day, which could be only done at a loss.

The appointment of Mr Cortinez to the portfolio of Hacienda meets with universal praise. Mr. Cortinez is well and favorably known in this market, and a worthy successor of Dr. Plaza, whose able note of resignation we are obliged, through press af matter, to hold for to-morrow.

Cedulas sympathized so much with the situation, that there was nothing whatever done in the stock, but its prospects are bettered by the clearance of the clouds that overhung the country. National Bank shares also look better, and rule for June at 68½.

Thanks to the attention of Messrs Lamport & Holt we received very late papers from London per Tycho Brahe. The news will be found in another column. The sweep of the Liberals is published in the Times of 10th. It was the tide of intellect, and of course carried everything before it.

The Poitou also arrived at Montevideo, and will be up in the morning. She brings up the Tycho Brahe's mails.

The Bolsa Committee received long telegrams from Parana, Rosario and Cordoba, all joining the peace movement.

We extract the following from Mr Chas. Story's important circular:—

"Since the 7th instant we note but little animation in the market; freights remain the same, we quote 20 francs and 10 o/o for Havre and 20/ and 10 o/o for Antwerp. Freights for sailing vessels have been neglected, and those chartered take salted hides and tallow. Ten vessels have been chartered in the rivers to load hides and tallow at 30/ and 5 o/o at order; but to-day 32/6 and 5 o/o are offering, as there are no more vessels. The maize is coming fast into the market, but the prices are too high for export.

The drought in the South is said to be worse than in the North, and a well known farmer of Mar Chiquito bought this morning in the South Plaza 500 fanegas of maize to send down to his estancia to feed his fine sheep. Our friend says that the state of things in the South is far worse than in the North, as the North men by driving out 20 leagues always find good land and plenty of pasturage, but in the South as far as Bahia Blanca the camps are the same, and the Moro, which was always considered as the very best land, is now as bare as the street. Many farmers say that the seca has all the appearance of the terrible seca of 1859.

The sales of several lots of land in the districts of 9 de Julio, Rojas, and Junin are spoken of, but as yet not made public, but we hear of some very large transactions and in a few days will give particulars.

The Nacional of Saturday publishes a rather interesting communication about the Bankrupt Caja de Credito, the lawyers' fees and the list of creditors. The concern, which at one time was in such high repute that the shares were at a high premium, smashed up, and the following creditors' petition the judge for the removal of Don Jose M. Pavia:—

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
(Ex Army Medical Staff)

CHLORODYNE

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 12th 1864.
The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.
CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.
CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diptheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitations and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

Extracts from Medical Opinions.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, Dec. 31st, 1864.
From A. Montgomery, Esq. late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay. 'Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed.
Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (December 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. Collin Browne's Chlorodyne was administered, the patient recovered.
Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera. 'So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases.
See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, August 1st, 1860, which states that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne, that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered.
CAUTION. None genuine without the words 'Dr. J. Collis Browne' on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
